Water service line inventory to begin soon

The City of Sioux Center will be asking for customers' help to identify their type of water service line bringing water to their property.

New EPA regulations require water systems to identify service line materials with the goal of ultimately eliminating lead service lines.

Very few lead service lines exist in Sioux Center.

Homes built in Sioux Center after 1952 were required by city code to have no lead service lines. It was also required in state code in 1988.

In the next several months, the Sioux Center Water Department will be working with property owners, especially for properties built before 1952, to identify their type of service line. Service lines are owned by the property owner. Thank you in advance for your help!

Get your home's update to help save money

Sioux Center Municipal Utilities is updating the load management device in your home at no additional cost to you. The device enables your AC compressor and electric water heater to cycle off a few minutes in sequence with others during peak usage times. This helps avoid higher rates due to the need to build more generation.

Contact one of these local electricians for your home's update, paid for by SCMU:
